

AUTOMOBILES GLORIOUS PARADE.

An Era in Transportation
Marked by These Forty-four.

BARRED FROM THE PARKS.

Columbia College Turns Out in Force to Welcome the Horseless Carriage Drivers.

"Looks like a rush of trolley cars after a long block," said an irreverent bystander, who did not appreciate the fact that the first great parade of automobiles really marked an era in transportation.

There were forty-four electric vehicles in line, and the passengers were members of the twenty-second annual convention of the Electric Light Association, and their fair friends.

First in the line was Colonel A. A. Pope, who rode a stylish electric dog cart; then followed landaus and barouches, dos-a-dos caisses, coupes and finally the more familiar electric hansom, with their unformed motormen.

The parade started at 3:15 p. m., and the assembly in front of Madison Square Garden proved of great interest to thousands. Four bicycle policemen led the parade, which moved around Madison Square and up Fifth avenue. It was at the hour when that thoroughfare is most thronged, and the long line of horseless vehicles created a sensation.

The line of carriages was nearly four blocks long. The automobiles were in single file with good turning intervals between them. The drivers were well trained and answered the speed signals with almost military precision.

The line of parade was up Fifth avenue to One Hundred and Eleventh street, thence across to Columbia College, where the two guests inspected the premises. Gymnasium and library as the guests of Professor Sever, of the Electrical Engineering School. The students came out in force to view the great assemblage of horseless carriages.

After tea in the students' lunch room the guests departed, many going to other points of interest and the rest parading back to the starting point.

There was only one accident. The broke bar of an electric hansom broke near the college and ended the usefulness of that vehicle.

There was some talk among the members of the Arrangement Committee that the route chosen by the policemen was not the very best, but the latter declared laughingly that they had not "put up a job" of the automobiles.

The committee members were indignant at the Park officials for refusing to allow any automobiles in Central Park or even to let the guests roll along Riverside Drive, on the ground that "processions" were not permitted.

Among those in the parade—many of them managing their private vehicles—were Allen M. Young, Colonel J. G. Porter, Luther Stieringer, Marcus Nathan and J. G. Porter.

First among the women were Mrs. J. G. Porter, Mrs. J. C. Young, Mrs. M. Hill, Mrs. Marcus Nathan, Mrs. C. L. Edgar, Mrs. Eckert, Mrs. J. C. Young, Mrs. W. L. Hawley, Mrs. J. G. Porter, Mrs. W. L. Hawley and Mrs. Charles T. Hughes.

The carriage was there, but it was not with laughter by those who had heard of his sudden marriage with Miss Gladys Wallis, the actress.

Notes from the State Capital.

Governor Roosevelt yesterday signed Assemblyman Henry's bill to allow cities of the first class to establish and maintain out of their corporate limits, with the approval of the State Board of Health, hospitals for the treatment of those afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis.

Assemblyman John J. O'Connell, who was captured on Sunday last by the Central Park Police, yesterday was released.

The Rev. Louis B. Crane, of the First Presbyterian Church, Princeton, has accepted the call from the Calvary Presbyterian Church, of Buffalo, and will assume the pastorate of that church at the early autumn.

Admiral Sampson will leave his home in Glen Ridge next Saturday afternoon and go to Philadelphia, where a banquet is given in his honor. Immediately after the banquet he will sail for New York.

SHORT SKIRTS FOR TEACHERS BANNED.

But the Young Women of the Lynn Schools Say
They Will Wear Them in Spite of Orders and in Spite of Remarks About Their Immodesty.

Lynn, Mass., May 24.—Short skirts and bicycle suits may no longer be worn by the teachers of the public schools of this city.

This request from the School Board came like a thunderbolt to the teachers to whom it was directed. Many of them say they will continue to wear bicycle suits, refusing to be dictated to as to their dress in or out of school. They say the bicycle skirt is neither immodest nor improper, it being more in the line of common sense than the sweeping train.

About sixty of the teachers ride wheels to and from school, and from nearly all comes the protest.

Those who were instrumental in having this order issued say that the bicycle skirt is degrading and not a proper example for the pupils. They do not and so much fault with the golf suits of the male teachers, but think it would be more proper for them to wear long trousers.

Superintendent Brice, who was foremost in the agitation, said that several teachers had appeared in the school rooms with skirts reaching barely below the knee and that their conduct with pupils had been far from modest. He also considered that many of the pupils, especially the girls, wore dresses which were immodest and immoral, but there was no way of preventing this, and they could do nothing but request the parents to discontinue the short skirts of their children.

About forty of the teachers met this evening and by a unanimous vote declared that the School Board had no right to prescribe what kind of attire they shall wear, and further that they will continue to wear their bicycle suits and golf suits.

A special meeting of the School Board will be held on Friday. Those opposed to short skirts are in the majority, but those who object to the order will fight earnestly to have the order rescinded.

Mr. Tuttle, secretary to Governor Voorhees, of New Jersey, and brother-in-law of Vice-President Hobart, in a suit instituted in the United States Circuit Court at Trenton yesterday.

Mr. Tuttle, with Howard A. Harvey, of East Orange; Lawrence S. Mott, of Newark, and George A. Denham, of Boston, as promoters of the Palace Car Company of New Jersey and the American Palace Car Company of Maine, is accused of attempting to dispose of the patent rights of the latter corporation to the former without the approval or consent of the stockholders of the Maine company.

Judge Gray granted an injunction restraining Mr. Tuttle and the other defendants from disposing of the patent rights of the Maine company, and that the Maine company should be heard June 6.

Tuttle, Harvey and Mott, as directors of this company, are accused of secretly and fraudulently conspiring with Denham to take legal title to the car Boston, the only one built by the company, and a dozen patents, all of which were to be transferred to Harvey as trustee, without any actual payment to the Maine company.

The complainants state that an intimation of this plan was made by the stockholders. They assert that Denham, holding a large number of shares of treasury stock as trustee, was the moving spirit in the matter, and in this way carried a resolution providing for the absorption of the Maine company by the New Jersey concern.

The New Jersey company having absorbed the old concern, the stockholders allege that the defendants have planned to issue bonds ostensibly to secure a working capital, but really to turn them over to third persons without consideration to obtain title by means of foreclosure to all the property and assets of the Maine company.

The complainants further allege that the defendants have obtained from the stockholders for the bond issue a large number of shares of treasury stock as trustee, and that many of the bonds are subscribed for by "fake" creditors of the Maine company.

SAYS HER SISTER IS SANE;
WANTS HER RELEASED.

Justice Beach, of the Supreme Court, has issued a writ of habeas corpus, on the application of Emma C. Dean, directing her half-brother, William E. Dean, a lawyer, to produce in court to-morrow Kate V. Dean, the sister of the petitioner.

Miss Dean alleges that when their father died in 1883 he left much real estate, a portion of which her sister is entitled, Kate, she says, was kept in a sanatorium by their brother, although perfectly sane. The last time she saw her was on April 26, when Kate asked that counsel should be employed to procure her release. The next day, she alleges, her sister was spirited away and she has since been unable to find her.

There will be a public execution of the death penalty on a dog at the Third Precinct Police Station, in Jersey City, to-morrow. Miss Dean, who was kept in a sanatorium by their brother, although perfectly sane. The last time she saw her was on April 26, when Kate asked that counsel should be employed to procure her release. The next day, she alleges, her sister was spirited away and she has since been unable to find her.

There are a grand lot of Buffaloes at Glen Island. Three buffalo calves have arrived there since Monday. Mr. Starin has named the calves "Tuesday" and "Wednesday." The buffalo cows seem to be happy as well as proud.

NEW YORK WILL SEE REINA MERCEDES.

Secretary Long Tells the Journal He Sees No Objection to the Plan, But Thinks She Is in Need of Repairs.

The captured Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes is the only floating trophy of the various engagements around Santiago, and whatever restoration is necessary ought to be on the original lines and design of construction. In that way she would be a perfect relic of the war.

A board of inspection to estimate the cost and determine the character of the repairs to the Reina Mercedes will be appointed probably to-day. The time of the cruiser's departure from Norfolk will depend entirely upon this. Probably the necessary repairs can be made in a few days, and in that case she could come to New York within two weeks.

The cruiser will be released from quarantine to-morrow afternoon. As to the risk of bringing her to the metropolis in her present condition, Captain I. J. Merritt, of the wrecking company, said yesterday that a bulk she was in good condition and only needed one pump to keep her entirely free of water.

The risk in bringing her North," said Mr. Merritt, "was in the choppy bit of water between Santiago and the Mole St. Nicholas, where the brisk trade winds are apt to make a heavy and dangerous cross swell, and off San Salvador, if you catch a norther, as the Maria Teresa did."

When the Government has taken her over I do not think there will be the slightest risk in running her out of the Virginia capes and into New York harbor.

CITY STORES THAT HAVE SEVERAL ODD TURNS.

He Played Policeman.
FREDERICK A. RUSSELL played policeman. He went into the Wakefield station house and introduced himself as one of Captain McCloskey's detectives. He wrote letters on official stationery and swaggered about the place.

Then he began to bring in his friends and introduce them. He brought a saloon keeper, and on the strength of the introduction tried to sell him some bonds. Russell was exposed, arrested, being held in the Morrisania Police Court on the charge of impersonating a policeman. He lives at No. 29 South High street, Mount Vernon.

Forgives Because of the Queen.
BOATWIFE it was the Queen's birthday, Henry Willis, an English livey driver, withdrew a charge of assault against his coachman, James McDermott, in the Court of Special Sessions.

"Your lordship," said Willis, addressing the Court, "this is his eighteenth birthday of his gracious sovereign lady Queen Victoria. In honor of that event and in keeping with the spirit of the day, I'll ask your lordship to kindly forgive me, so fervent was the appeal that the Court did."

Swallowed His Teeth With His Mind.
CITY COUNCILMAN JOHN M. BERGER, of Trenton, couldn't find his four false teeth and jumped to the conclusion that he had swallowed them. Following this conclusion came awful pains in the stomach. Doctors were sent for to come with saws and knives. Just as they were about to begin carving Berger up his wife found his teeth under his pillow. Then the pains vanished and the doctors collected their fees.

More Small Boy Runaways.
TWO small boys were found in lower Central Park asleep in some bushes yesterday. They were James McDonough, ten, of 414 West Fifty-sixth street, who stayed out late, and being afraid to go home, camped in the park; and Thomas Coyle, eight, of No. 431 West Twenty-seventh street, who had run away from home. They met accidentally, exchanged stories and went into partnership in selling newspapers.

Tobacco Chewers Exercised.
THE Hoboken Board of Health has issued an order prohibiting expectorating in public places, and public buildings. Nearly all Hoboken public officials are tobacco chewers, and they are getting up a petition asking the board to change its mind.

A Pair of Tiny Burglars.
TWO burglars, one eleven years old, and the other nine, were in the Centre street police court yesterday. They were August Rutch and Frederick Frohne. Their specialty was to play ball and pretending to lose a ball on a fire escape, ascend it and get into a flat where they took anything that was loose. The Gerry Society got them.

His Name Was Too Rich.
JAMES CARTER, colored, pickpocket, of No. 226 Thompson street, gave the name of Klondike when suspected of picking pockets at the Morris Park track. This name being an object of suspicion it was found that he was an old offender. Held in $1,500 bail in Centre street court.

Love of Every Rained Rose.
USE GLUBB pretty and black eyed, said lover of hers had made her a sneak thief. She told Judge Schatz in the Mount Vernon court that it amounted to a mania with her. She stole sealskin capes and silk dresses. Six months in the penitentiary.

Stories About Animals.
A black and tan dog, owned by James Hopkins, of Central avenue, Jersey City, went mad last night and bit at pedestrians. Policemen Gehring finally put a bullet into the animal and stopped its career.

HAMMERSTEIN A "SQUATTER."

Ordered to Vacate Mrs. Davidson's Land
Next to the Victoria.

Justice O'Gorman, in the Tenth Municipal District Court, decided yesterday in favor of Anna M. Davidson against the Hammerstein Amusement Company, requiring the company to vacate the lots at Nos. 207, 209 and 211 West Forty-second street, on which it was charged with being a "squatter." The defendants must pay costs.

Mrs. Davidson owns the property involved, which adjoins the Victoria Theatre. She and George M. Janssen asserted that Janssen had a lease of the place for forty-six years, and that the Hammerstein Company had been using part of the land. It is said that Janssen wants to build a theatre on the lots.

GRANITE CUTTERS WIN.
Court Compels the East River Bridge Commission to Honor the Law.

The Granite Cutters' Union has been successful in its fight to compel the East River Bridge Commissioners to recognize the law requiring all State and municipal contractors to pay the prevailing rate of wages to their employees.

Justice Scott today handed down a decision granting a peremptory writ of mandamus on the application of William J. O'Brien, the business agent of the granite cutters.

ANOTHER FAIR WILL DELAY.
Court Orders All Appeals Resubmitted to the Full Bench.

San Francisco, May 24.—The Supreme Court has ordered that the submission of all appeals in the Fair will case be set aside and that they be resubmitted to the full court.

It is owing to the fact that Justice Vandye, who succeeded Justice Van Fleet, did not personally hear the arguments on the appeals.

If you are open to conviction, let us send you one box of fifty BETWEEN THE ACTS LITTLE CIGARS to smoke—when you want a short smoke and haven't time for a long one. They are real cigars, but small ones.

PAINTERS THAT CAN HANDLE GRIZZLY AND POLAR BEARS WANTED AT THE MENAGERIE.

Artist Oppen's Impression of Applicants for Appointment as Cage Painters.

HUNTERS who are not afraid of grizzlies and polars are wanted in Central Park menagerie to paint the inside of the bears' cages an ultra-marine green. Two ordinary New York union painters who attempted the job yesterday had a narrow escape from being hugged and eaten.

They did not go near the bears again, but went and daubed tar on the roof of the pheasant house, which, they said, was the limit they would reach in dealing with wild beasts.

Director Smith announces that he will hire a lion tamer, if necessary, to finish the work, if he can only find a lion tamer who belongs to the painters' organization, which will not allow any non-union work even on the inside of bears' dens.
